

SEARCHING FOR A PROGRAM

WWW.PATHWAYSTOSCIENCE.ORG ~ Whether you are a freshman looking for a paid summer research opportunity with NASA, a junior looking for a graduate program funded by NSF, or a grad student looking for post-doc opportunities or bridge support to the next step in your career – www.pathwaystoscience.org is a great search tool to get you started!

The Pathways site features hundreds of programs, internships, fellowships, scholarships, & professional development opportunities nationwide in a wide range of STEM (science, technology, engineering, & mathematics) fields and related disciplines. Each post displays contact information specific to the opportunity and provides a direct link to the program's website.

The BASIC OR ADVANCED SEARCH FUNCTIONS make it easy to narrow the field to opportunities that match your interests and level of study. Search by discipline, keyword, institution or geographic area. Or, use the Quick Links to go directly to and browse summer research opportunities, programs that offer portable funding, or to see what's available at a specific institution or within a particular discipline.

NASA SOLAR ~ Check out SOLAR, NASA's one-stop-shop for undergraduate and graduate students applying for NASA opportunities at <http://intern.nasa.gov/>.

The graphic features a large number '1' filled with a colorful nebula image. To its right, the word 'ONE' is written in large, bold, yellow letters with a blue outline. Below 'ONE' is the text 'ONE STOP SHOPPING' in blue. To the right of this, there are three lines of text: 'ONE NASA system', 'ONE submitted application', and 'Take ONE step toward your future'. Below this is a paragraph of text, followed by three bullet points, and a small NASA logo in the bottom right corner.
